

6.1_A

Noun	Verb	Adjective	Computing meaning	Possible synonym

6.1_A

Answers

Noun	Verb	Adjective	Computing meaning	Possible synonym
broadband /'brɔːdbænd/	–	broadband	(n) a connection to the internet that makes it possible to transfer large amounts of data	(n) cable
cache /kæʃ/	cache /kæʃ/ caching /'kæʃɪŋ/	cached /kæʃt/	(n) a type of computer memory where information that is often used can be stored temporarily to provide quick access	(n) store despatch /dɪ'spætʃ/ despatcher /dɪ'spætʃə(r)/	despatch /dɪ'spætʃ/	–	(v) to send something to a destination. In network computing, to send data to a destination	(v) send reassembly /ˌriːə'sembli/	reassemble /ˌriːə'sembl/	–	(v) data is broken up into small chunks called packets that travel separately across a network and then are reassembled by the device that is receiving them	(v) reconstruct request /rɪ'kwest/	request	–	(n) a message from a visitor's browser to a web server to request or send data or to perform an action	(n) call server /'sɜːvə(r)/	serve /sɜːv/	–	(v) when a server provides data in response to a request	(v) provide/return split /splɪt/	split /splɪt/	split /splɪt/	(v) splitting data means dividing it into two or more subsets	(v) divide